Personal Profile

I am a very extroverted person and I love to meet new people and help them however I can. I take great pride in my ability to learn new things quickly. I am always excited by any educational opportunity. My determination is one of my strongest traits; I love a good challenge and give every task one hundred percent. This, combined with my experience in retail and customer services, makes me a real asset in the workplace.

Interests and Achievements

Interests

I have participated in my local Scouts Ireland group from a young age, where I have learned many incredible skills while working in teams with my peers. In addition to the Scouts, I have a passion for all things cooking and baking. I regularly cook dinner for my family while at home to help me learn as much as I can about the craft.

I also love to express my creativity through drawing, painting and crafting. I have completed multiple projects both for school and personally. In school, my favourite subject is Art as it allows me to develop these skills further.

Achievements

During my time in Scouts Ireland, I have won multiple awards, including the “Scout of the Month” award. Additionally, I was awarded the prestigious Ardscoil na Tríonóide Student of the Year award in successive years while in 5th and 6th Year in school for my outstanding contribution to the schools ethos.
